Interview with Myongho Rhee, President of Busan Finance Center and WAIFC Board Member

Myongho Rhee, discusses his new role as President of Busan Finance Center and this center's commitment to enhancing collaboration with WAIFC members, transforming BFC into a more open and goal-oriented organization, and Busan's ambitions to become a financial hub for Northeast Asia.

What does the new presidency bring to the Busan Finance Center?

I have recently assumed the role of president at Busan Finance Center. Busan Finance Center (BFC) is committed to enhancing collaboration with WAIFC members and actively engaging in WAIFC initiatives. It aims to transform BFC into a more open and goal-oriented organization so that Busan can emerge as a Financial Hub for Northeast Asia.

How is BFC engaging with the WAIFC community?

As one of the founding members of WAIFC, Busan Finance Center (BFC) embraces a profound sense of responsibility and commitment to actively participate in all WAIFC meetings, including Board Meetings and Annual General Meetings. Witnessing the exemplary expertise of WAIFC members from diverse domains, we are compelled to take a proactive stance in our initiatives. We pledge our unwavering dedication to putting the best effort. We humbly request your vigilant attention as we progress in our endeavors.

What is Busan's ambition and strategic vision as an international financial hub?

Busan has been making significant efforts to transform into an international financial hub. In this regard, as President of BFC, I would like to prioritize those financial sectors in which Busan demonstrates a competitive edge and can harness its distinct strengths. Rather than competing with well-established financial hubs, our vision is to foster collaboration and actively engage in initiatives that promote the mutual growth.

First, our primary focus lies in harnessing the distinctive regional advantages of Busan to develop the maritime finance. Second, we aim to invigorate digital finance by capitalizing on the 'Busan Blockchain Regulation Free Special Zone', which was officially designated by law in August 2019. Lastly, our strategic vision encompasses the fostering of derivative finance and the establishment of a backup office, with a deliberate emphasis on optimizing the strategic assets of the Korea

Exchange (KRX), headquartered in Busan.

How will the BFC contribute to WAIFC's mission?

While attending the WAIFC Annual General Meeting in New York, we were deeply impressed and inspired by the commitment of all the directors, who devoted their valuable time to advance WAIFC initiatives. We will attempt to emulate the same level of dedication and collaborate with all esteemed WAIFC members. Together, we will endeavor to support WAIFC in its mission to become a focal point for financial centers, fostering greater harmony, cooperation, and prosperity.

OPINIONS

Opinion of Marta Kotlarska, winner of the WAIFC Young Academic Award 2023

Receiving the WAIFC YAA Award in 2023 has been an incredible honor for me. I am elated to see my work in blockchain technologies and their potential for enhancing carbon markets recognized.

My advice to future YAA participants is simple: embrace the opportunity. If you can identify areas where finance and sustainability can harmoniously coexist, leverage innovative technologies, and drive positive change through ESG principles, I encourage you to submit your work. Our world needs more dedicated individuals to champion this vital cause and foster collaboration within the sector.
